DVZ 70 Strings real-time sampler Labary

The fastest and easiest strings library

In cooperation with Audio Impressions, we are proud to offer a new generation of world class sample libraries. The Audio Impressions goal is simple: to create realtime instrument sample libraries, which actually sound like a real orchestra by (physically) to play as a real orchestra, with separate sections. It is more than a sample library- it is a virtual ensemble/orchestra!

Greater clear and distinct sound

With conventional libraries, each added note increases the number of total players, and increases the sound level; the harmonic structure also "thickens" and the sound becomes muddy and over-modulated. With DVZ powered libraries the number of players and the sound level remain constant no matter how many notes are in the chord, just as occurs with live players.

The same kind of logic used to allocate played notes amongst active instruments (players) is also applied to allocating played notes amongst sections. For example, a chord can be orchestrated in real time, distributing its notes across the first and second violins, violas, celli and basses.

The important point is that you are able to produce realistic-sounding compositions. Audio Impressions' Patented DVZ technology maintains a natural orchestral balance. Regardless of how few or many notes you play, the orchestral balance will always be maintained and the sounds will remain clear and distinct.

The library has been individually recorded note for note in London's finest studios using rare vintage microphones and the world's best musicians playing priceless Guarneri and Stradivari instruments. Individual samples are recorded in the highest possible samplerate (192 KHz) to make library follow D/A converters future development.

Besides the feature making it possible to assign chord notes to players, the DVZ realtime controlled libraries are also capable of generating downloadable orchestral voices to be used in ordinary scoring tool applications.

Audio Impressions' Realtime DVZ® Instruments are being released in multiple packages, each powered by DVZ. The first to be released is DVZ Strings, followed very soon by DVZ Winds & Brass. The remaining libraries are already recorded and will be released as soon as they are fully prepared and their custom GUI's have been finalized. These include:

- Winds & Brass (includes: Orchestral, Band, Antique and World in one package)
- Percussion (includes: Orchestral, Latin, Band, Antique and World in one package)

- Keyboards & Harps (Multiple acoustic and electric instruments)
- Harps Guitars & Drum kits (dozens of each)
- Music Effects (includes: Cannons, The beam, Ambiances, etc.)
- 100 + Rank Pipe Organ
